SAFE HOMES, HEALTHY COMMUNITIES

Dear Friends and Allies,

Thousands of individuals and families in crisis reach out to Safe Shelter each year for support in dealing with or recovering from abusive relationships. In 2016, a year of divisions and heightened stress for many community members, we have remained committed to our values of providing a safe space and services for individuals and families regardless of gender identity, sexual orientation, socioeconomic status, language, country of origin or citizenship status.

In 2016, our Safe Shelter Symposium on Domestic Violence focused on the Power of Technology. The tech safety event was in step with the emerging concerns of parents, educational institutions and law enforcement, as well as with abusers' strategies that increasingly rely on cyber tactics. The array of breakouts and presentations offered studies, strategies and awareness-raising to parents; teens, and multidisciplinary professionals in the fields of education, child protection, therapy, research, law, law enforcement and program design and development.

The year saw an expansion of our ambitious initiative to mobilize men and boys in the work to end relationship abuse and to effect change of a male culture of violence. We officially launched Safe Shelter's White Ribbon Campaign, the world's largest male-led campaign to end DV, at our Legacy Dinner. To target young men, we introduced into the St. Vrain Valley Schools Coaching Boys Into Men, an evidenced-based curriculum working with coaches and their athletic teams to reduce teen dating violence and increase safe intervention by their peers.

We have also joined with many community-based organizations, foundations, advocacy organizations and government entities in efforts to enable all people access to a safe place to call home, including the Close To Home Colorado campaign.

The year 2017 will be the last in four decades of our work that has continually expanded and shifted to meet rising challenges. We evolved from taking victims secretly into the homes of neighborhood women to a duel-facility organization with a state-of-the-art emergency shelter and a nonresidential suite of offices staffed with experienced trauma-informed advocates. As we move forward to build and expand our core services, I encourage you to actively join with our community partners, allies, donors and the foundations who share our values to help us realize a vision of safe homes for everyone and a compassionate and healthy community.

Yours in Peace & Justice, Jackie

2016 SPOTLIGHT

During 2016, Safe Shelter continued to expand its role as a vehicle for raising awareness about the impact and challenges of DV and emerging interventions for the treatment of survivors.

2016 SYMPOSIUM ON DOMESTIC VIOLENCE: NAVIGATING THE POWER OF TECHNOLOGY

aunched with a free bilingual evening endorsed by St. Vrain Valley Schools with 60 youth, parents, and educators in attendance, the event was facilitated by two dynamic presenters to examine the positive and negative features of technology. Topics included teen dating; digital risks and vulnerabilities; relationship responsibilities, safety, how to avoid unintended harms; and how to contribute to a positive online culture.

The following day was introduced with a Keynote by District Attorney Stan Garnett and featured concurrent sessions designed for advocates and service providers; law officers; legal professionals; administrators and directors; and educators. Presentations explored the complexities of tech safety, safety planning, leveraging technology for protections, offender apprehensions and the dissection of successful legal cases.

> Results of feedback for professional attendees: 96%: I now have a better understanding of the topic 87%: I will use what I learned to enhance my work

> > I had my eyes opened to some issues I would not have imagined. Also gave me some good talking points with clients.

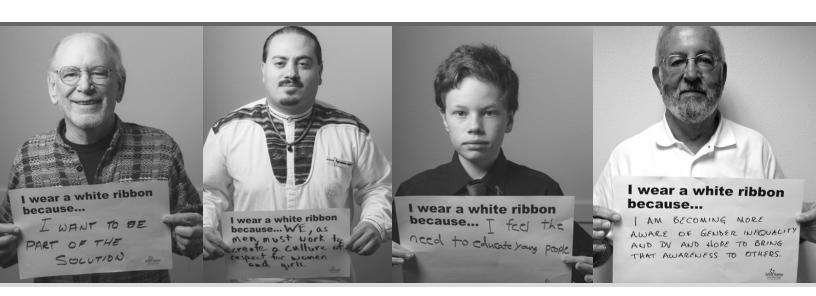

RED FLAG CAMPAIGN

In recognition of Teen Dating Violence Awareness Month in February, Safe Shelter sponsored its first Red Flag Campaign working with TERA youth to install 2,900 red flags and outdoor awareness posters. The display stood for two weeks adjacent to the Longmont Youth Center. This number of flags represents the one-in-three students within the St. Vrain Valley Schools who are estimated to be affected by dating abuse this year. The Red Flag Campaign is a national project designed to encourage people to speak up when they see red flags in their friends' relationships.

For the last three years I have been involved in a very controlling and verbally abusive relationship. It escalated to where his final attack ended with me in the hospital for three days. I would think that after having so much training in high school through TERA I would know better, but I guess that shows that domestic violence truly can happen to anyone.

2016 LEGACY DINNER: LAUNCHING THE WHITE RIBBON CAMPAIGN

n October 2016, Safe Shelter presented a special evening of performance art and call to action that launched its White Ribbon Campaign as part of its initiative to end violence against women and girls, promote gender equity, healthy relationships and a new vision of masculinity. The White Ribbon Campaign is the world's largest movement of men and boys working to end violence against women and girls.

OUR COMMUNITY IMPACT

The kindness and love you have shown me and my son will stay with me forever.

66 After decades of working with professionals to address and implement "safe" in our home, it is finally with your care and skill that I am sure I now at last am getting a handle on what it is about-in real life. That I don't stand alone to address the losses is a grace that you bring to your work. When I get too scared, I think of you.
